CONDUCTING CANVASS ON FEDERAL TAX COMPLIANCE IN STATE

A Canvassing Program to insure Federal tax compliance throughout Maine will be started this month, Whitney L. Wheeler, District Director of the Internal Revenue Service, announced in Augusta this morning.

"The Internal Revenue Code of 1954," said Mr. Wheeler, "requires that representatives of the Service from time to time conduct a canvass of all persons who may be liable to pay any internal revenue tax and of all persons owning or having the care and management of any objects with respect to which any tax is imposed."

Stating that the primary purpose of the Program is to obtain better voluntary compliance with the nation's tax laws, Mr. Wheeler observed that most Maine taxpayers are anxious to meet their tax obligations, and in many cases the "Canvassing Program will correct honest misunderstandings of tax liabilities."

"Of course," added Mr. Wheeler, "the discovery of those few who have deliberately sought to evade taxes will benefit us all, for the tax burden can only be fairly distributed if each citizen fully complies with his tax obligations."

In answering a question as to whether all Maine taxpayers could expect a visit from an Internal Revenue representative, Mr. Wheeler indicated that the Canvassing Program will be carried out on a continuing basis and that eventually all taxpayers may expect to be contacted.

COUNTY F. H. A. COMMITTEEMEN ATTEND TRAINING MEETING

Members of the Androscoggin and Oxford County Committees of the Farmers Home Administration and Benjamin A. Curtis, Jr., County Supervisor attended a training meeting held recently at the Worcester House in Hallowell. This meeting was one of three held in Maine and covered the Southern District, of which Sheldon L. Ward is Area Supervisor. Committeemen and Supervisors were in attendance from Cumberland, Franklin, Kennebec, Knox, Lincoln, Sagadahoc, Somerset and York Counties in addition to the above named.

C. Wilder Smith, State Director, with the assistance of Mr. Ward and the State Office Staff brought the committeemen up-to-date, with recent changes in the program and what goals the Farmers Home Administration wish to attain during the coming year. The County Supervisors carried on a detailed discussion on the various types of loans which this agency has to offer, namely: Production and Subsidized, Farm Ownership, Production Emergency, Economic Emergency and Soil and Water Conservation.

These meetings are taking place at this time all over the country and are being called by the National Office in order to give committeemen complete information with respect to their duties and responsibilities in connection with certifying applicants for Farmers Home Administration assistance.

Cecil Burns has resigned as teacher and coach at Mexico High School. He will go to the John Marshall Junior High School, Long Beach, California, where he will teach mathematics.

Robert Walton, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Walton of Dixfield was drowned Tuesday in Worthley Pond, Peru.

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The initial returns of the 1955 tax bills has been quite good so far as we have already received almost $25,000.00 to date. This is appreciated as Town Income has naturally been slow for a time.

Due to the long stretch of dry weather we had a large valve put into the 500 gallon sprinkler tank so it may be available for use with the regular fire equipment. The recent fire in the Bird Hill section gave a good chance to try this out. Hanover Dowel's bulldozer also proved good assistance to Chief Blake's men.

ALBANY TO SEEK PLANTATION STATUS AT MONDAY MEETING

A group of citizens of Albany have petitioned the County Commissioners for organization as a plantation and a meeting will be held next Monday for the election of officers.

The notice of the meeting to be called at 2 o'clock in the afternoon for the purpose of organizing "said unorganized township into a plantation as provided by provision of Chapter 101 of the Revised Statutes of 1954" and to choose the following officers: moderator, clerk, three assessors, treasurer, collector of taxes, constable, superintending school committee, and other plantation officers.

Albany was incorporated June 20, 1803, and operated under town government until Nov. 20, 1937, when it was deorganized and has since carried on as a township. Large purchases of land for the White Mountain National Forest and the resulting loss of taxable property was the principal reason for the deorganization move. Increasing taxes in late years, based on township expenses, have been the cause of a growing discontent and the hope of economy in plantation government.

The thing, also, in the opinion is that the only reason the government, and particularly the military services in the defense department are in various business enterprises, is that they found they were being gouged by private enterprises business and that they could do the same thing themselves at savings to the taxpayers. And further, while private business wants to get in on many things the Government is now doing for itself, these businessmen want to pick and choose and select the line which will be most remunerative.

HAS GOT SO MUCH TO GO WITH!

The most up-to-date V8

So advanced in design and so efficient in operation that it needs only 4 quarts of oil instead of the usual 5. Shortest stroke of any V8 in the industry. Delivers more horsepower per pound than any engine in Chevrolet's field. Take your choice of the 162-h.p. "Turbo-Fire" or the 180-h.p. "Super Turbo-Fire," optional at extra cost.

Two Sizzling 6's

They're the most powerful 6's in Chevrolet's field—And like the V8's, they give you the extra punch, performance and reserve power of the only 12-volt electrical system in Chevrolet's field.

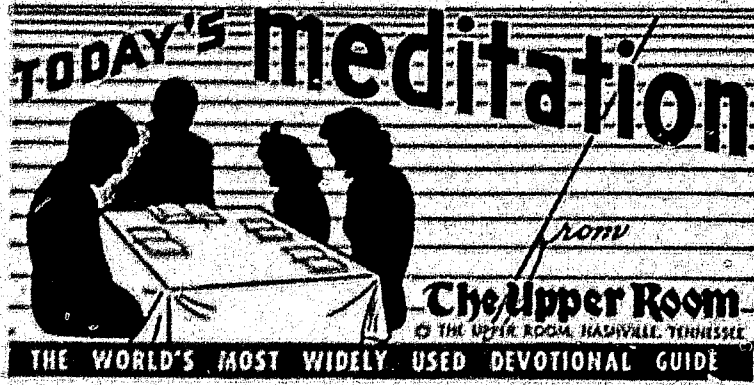

Powerglide,
Overdrive or Synchro-Mesh

Chevrolet gives you the drive to suit your driving. A new and finer Synchro-Mesh transmission, or as extra-cost options, oil-smooth Powerglide automatic transmission or Touch-Down Overdrive.

New engineering advances on steering, springing, suspension

Special ball bearings in the steering gear roll with the turn of the wheel to reduce friction. Glide-Ride front suspension rolls the bumps smooth. Outrigger rear springs straighten the curves.

Read II Corinthians 6:16-18.
Glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's. (I Corinthians 6:20.)

The Apostle Paul, in his First Epistle to the Corinthians, emphasizes the importance of glorifying God in the body as well as in the spirit. Too frequently we neglect, or totally forget, the wholeness of body and soul which Paul emphasizes so clearly. As Christians, we acknowledge Christ as our spiritual Master in all things. To function most effectively as Christians, we as individuals must care for the physical as well as the spiritual side of living. Good health, which Jesus restored to so many, is a goal which is not possible for all of us. Nevertheless, we must do the best we can, and regard our broken, pain-racked bodies as temples in which and through which to glorify God. Good living habits, moderation in diet, exercise within our limitations, and relaxation—these will help us function most effectively for the Master. "Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?"

Prayer

Teach us, our heavenly Father, the importance of taking care of Thy temple that this stewardship, which Thou hast given to each of us, will not be neglected. Strengthen us to do Thy holy will, to glorify Thee in body and in spirit, which are Thine. In Christ's name we pray, Amen.

Thought For The Day
What daily living habits can I change to improve my physical and spiritual health?

To Alaska with Charles M. Smith

Nearing Whitehorse is an area of glacial lakes which few travelers would tell of lest they not be able to keep them for themselves. They sneak up behind the trees and then expand in frigid splendor. Some of the lakes still had ice packs or shell ice around the edges. All of them are wonderful fishing.

Coming into Whitehorse we crossed the Yukon where we saw the huge flat bottomed stern wheelers of the British Yukon Navigation Co., and the "Yukoner" which was brought up the 1604 miles of the Yukon from St. Michaels on the Bering Sea in 1953. Whitehorse is a dusty little mass of log cabins, garages, ruined machinery, plus the White Pass and Yukon railroad station, the water front area and a large 2 million dollar government building which looks tremendously out of place. It has a population of about 5000.

Beyond Whitehorse the road flattens out and straightens and finally near the Alaska border it travels across the miles of muskeg that you read about. Even now the gravel dumps down here and there producing some odd unsuspected aid jumps. The last 150 miles are the most startling of the whole trip because the road in many places is hacked out of the side of a glacial valley with moraine below and several nice glaciers in view. It gets to be really rugged and the geological formations are of a type that I was unused to.

Anchorage had 132 inches of snow last winter which has delayed the emergence of the frost and construction work hasn't started yet. I worked about a week on a carpenter job for the Civil Aeronautics Administration on an airfield here in town but now I am in Cold Bay, Alaska.

If you're wondering where in God's wonderful creation is Cold Bay, its the most westerly point of the North American mainland before you go onto the Aleutians. Here you'll find the wind-swept, rain-soaked fisherman's paradise with its air field, signal corp shack, Reeves Air Line shack, Northwest Air Lines shack and CAA apartment house. We also have about a hundred old deserted tumble down Quonset huts and a livable nucleus of old Navy wooden buildings connected by enclosed stormproof walks. There are perhaps 75 people here, five or six families, no natives. Down on the bay is a large wooden dock that receives fishing boats and others.

The CAA is working on a fine building which will be offices and apartments for six families. They have about 12 or 15 men out here for the summer. Some of the work will be outside but most of it will be inside finishing. We're set up in warm bunk houses with beds and linen provided. The food is excellent. As you can imagine this is no metropolis but I sure won't spend much of the money earned and the fishing promises to be great as well as some excitement with the wild game.

As our plane came in for a landing some of the passengers could see several fellows chasing two bears along the shore. We landed and after getting settled I started hiking for a look around the little island. Some excitement!

short ways off indicated the brownies were still close. There she was across a marshy draw. Three of us crept up over a knoll and got some pictures from about a hundred feet. But then she had in mind going the same way that I was headed. She seemed pretty determined so I hot-totted it up the road ahead of her and got some more pictures as she stopped to sit against a telephone pole and scrub her back. In the meantime we spotted a second bear, which was a yearling cub which would weigh about 500 lbs., quite a bit smaller than the first one seen. Ten people couldn't get the fellow to move altho our efforts were restricted to what we could do from 20 ft. away. That's as close as I want to get to a brownie without a gun. They are beautiful creatures. Their hair was as shiny and healthy looking as could be. They have big brown eyes, a nose much longer than the blacks and cute little ears that stick up like a thistle blossom. It was a treat for everyone to see one so clearly in the daytime and a real treat for me to get within 20 ft. of one on the first day. No exaggeration, really, you'll see when I get the pictures back.

A few nights ago a flick was shown at the mess hall. It was one of the three a week we have. After the film was shown a few everyone started to file out through the cook house door some sort of deterring influence threw the leader back in. Very successfully holding their own outside were our three bears. They displayed any interest in the movie by feigning preoccupation with the garbage cans outside the door. Anyway it took considerable vocal prodding to persuade them the meter had run out and that they should park elsewhere and growl. That's the first time I've been late home from the flicks—because of brown bears.

Conservation Farming In Oxford County

by Douglas L. Marston
Soil Conservation Service

The Supervisors of the Oxford County Soil Conservation District met on Wednesday evening, August 3 at the Soil Conservation Service office at South Paris. The main item of business was the Supervisors' decision to purchase an additional tree planter. The planter, which we hope to have available for fall planting, will be of more heavy construction than our present machine, and should be better adapted for the more difficult planting sites. It will be equipped with heavy duty scalpers to remove brush and sod away from the young trees.

Our present planter works very well in abandoned fields, but there are many thousands of acres of land covered with brush that should be planted and we hope that this new planter will answer our needs for these conditions.

The planning committee for the Oxford County Agricultural Field Day also met last Wednesday to make final arrangements for the Field Day to be held August 16 at the C. S. Barrows & Son farm in Oxford. This has the makings of a fine field day and there should be something of interest for all those that attend.

Lunch facilities will be available by 4-H Clubs under the supervision of Mrs. Edgar Coby. Picnic lunches may be brought, but we hope that most of you will patronize the 4-H Lunch booth which will feature sandwiches, hot dogs, Italian sandwiches and fresh, cold milk.

A very large farm equipment display and demonstration is being arranged by Ben Curtis of the Farmers Home Administration.

Frank Hagen of the Extension Association has been making plans for a horse and oxen plowing contest. Anyone interested in competing in the plowing contest should contact Frank Hagen immediately.

for driving contest between the 3 Vocational Agriculture schools in the County. Mrs. Knight, the Oxford County Extension Association 4-H club agent, would like to have some 4-H club members enter the tractor driving contest also and anyone interested should contact Mrs. Knight or their club leader immediately.

Frank Hagen has also arranged for an irrigation demonstration as an added feature of the field day. A 1 acre plot of oats was irrigated with 4" of water August 4 and on half of this plot 70 pounds of nitrogen per acre was applied. These oats will be harvested for silage during the field day and if you arrive early you should have a chance to see what the additional water and nitrogen did for the oats.
